Chicago Data.

- Real world dataset using SQL and Python.

Understanding data sets.

- Progress Report Cards (2011-2012):

- This dataset displays all school-level performance data used to create the BCE School Report Cards for the 2011-2012 school year. This dataset is provided by the City of Chicago's data portal.

- Chicago Public Schools - Progress Report Cards (2011-2012):

- Chicago Public Schools

- Socioeconomic Indicator Data (2008-2012):

- This dataset contains a selection of six socioeconomic indicators of public health importance and a “hardship index” for each community area in Chicago, for the years 2008 through 2012.

- Census Data - Selected socioeconomic indicators in Chicago, 2008 – 2012:

- Chicago Census Data

- Crime Data (2012):

- This dataset reflects reported crime incidents (excluding murders, where data exists for each victim) that occurred in the city of Chicago in the year 2012.

- Chicago Crime Data:

- Chicago Crime Data

- Necessary packages and libraries:

In [1]: import csv
        #import sql
        import sqlite3
        import sqlalchemy
        import pandas as pd
        import os

        import matplotlib.pyplot as plt import seaborn as sns

        %matplotlib inline

Disable warnings
import warnings warnings.filterwarnings('ignore')

print('All packages imported!')

All packages imported!

Database creation and connection:

- Load the ipython-sql extension and establish a database connection.

In [2]: # Database file name db_name = "ChicagoData.sqlite3"

Drop the existing database if it exists
if os.path.exists(db_name):
    os.remove(db_name)
    print(f"Database {db_name} deleted.")

Create a new database connection (this creates a new empty database)
con = sqlite3.connect(db_name) cur = con.cursor()

print(f"Database {db_name} created!")

Database ChicagoData.sqlite3 deleted.
Database ChicagoData.sqlite3 created!

In [3]: %load_ext sql
```

```
In [4]: %sql sqlite:///ChicagoData.sqlite3

- Store the datasets in database tables

To analyze the data with SQL, it is first necessary to load it into the SQLite database. We will create three tables as shown below:

1. CensusData
2. SchoolData
3. CrimeData

- I store the dataset in a table
- I use the `df.to_sql()` function to convert each csv file into a sqlite table with the csv data loaded into it.

In [5]: df = pd.read_csv("ChicagoCensusData.csv") df.to_sql("CensusData", con, if_exists='replace', index=False, method="mul
```

Out[5]: 78

In [6]: df = pd.read_csv("ChicagoCrimeData.csv")
df.shape
```

Out[6]: (336335, 22)

In [7]: # Block size block = 10_000

        # Block insertion
        for i in range(0, len(df), block):
            df_block = df.iloc[i:i + block]
            df_block.to_sql("CrimeData", con, if_exists='append', index=False)

        print("Successfully inserted data!")

Successfully inserted data!

In [8]: df = pd.read_csv("ChicagoPublicSchools.csv") df.to_sql("SchoolData", con, if_exists='replace', index=False, method="mu

Out[8]: 566

- I query the database system catalog to retrieve table metadata.
- I verify that the table creation was successful by retrieving the list of all tables in its schema and checking if the "CrimeData" table was created

In [9]: %%sql
        SELECT name FROM sqlite_master
        WHERE type='table';
```

* sqlite:///ChicagoData.sqlite3

Done.

Out[9]:      name
        -----
        CensusData
        CrimeData
        SchoolData
```

- I query the database system catalog to retrieve column metadata.

In [10]: # Get the names of all tables cur.execute("SELECT name FROM sqlite_master WHERE type='table';") tables = cur.fetchall()

        # Iterate over each table and get the column count
        for table in tables:
            cur.execute(f"PRAGMA TABLE_INFO({table_name});") columns = cur.fetchall()
            print(f"Table: {table_name}, Columns: {len(columns)}")
```

Table: CensusData, Columns: 9

Table: CrimeData, Columns: 22

Table: SchoolData, Columns: 79

- Check the column names in the tables along with their data types and length.

In [11]: %sql SELECT name, type, length(type) FROM PRAGMA_TABLE_INFO('CensusData')
